TWO ENTERTAINERS DEPART

Arthur Williamson and George Kreeer, both professional singers, who have been located at Camp Humphreys for several months and who were "headliners" in most of the excellent programs given by men in uniform at the War Camp Community Service Hall and elsewhere in and around Alexandria, left Saturday for Texas, ultimately to proceed to France. In honor of the occasion, an entertainment and banquet was arranged for them and quite a number of officers from their regiment, by Miss Mary G. Hazard and Eutha Franham, given in the warehouse at the Camp on last Friday night.

The affair was a most enjoyable one and the participants appreciated very much the successful effort on the part of these young ladies to provide this farewell entertainment to speed the parting guests.

Armistice Signed at General Diaz's Headquarters Yesterday Afternoon—Became Effective Today—Trent, Udine and Trieste Taken.

Vienna, (via London), Nov. 4.—"Hostilities have ceased in the Italian theater, on the basis of an armistice just concluded, the conditions of which will be made public in a separate communique," the Austrian war office announced last night.

Vienna, via London, Nov. 4.—"Hostilities have ceased in the Italian theater of war," says an official statement issued here today. An armistice has been concluded," the statement adds.

London, Nov. 4.—Premier Lloyd George telephoned from Paris yesterday that the Austrian armistice had been signed at Den. Diaz's headquarters yesterday afternoon.

The armistice became operative at 5 o'clock this morning. The terms will be made public tomorrow.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Cable dispatches reporting the signing of the Austrian armistice at Gen. Diaz's headquarters were confirmed in Washington last night in official dispatches to the United States government. It was stated here, however, that the terms of the armistice would be given out probably today, both in Washington and in Europe. This was taken to mean that the terms were on the cables last night. It was said positively, that no announcement of the details of the armistice would be made last night.

Rome, Nov. 4.—"We occupied Trent and Udine and landed at Trieste," says a late announcement last night from Gen. Diaz.

The number of prisoners taken by the allies on the Italian front has risen to 100,000, Gen. Diaz announced last yesterday. The total number of guns captured has increased to 2,200.

"We are fighting on the Tagliamento," says the statement.

The Austrian defenses in the Sella del Tonale and in Vallarsa regions have been forced, and Col. Santo, as well as Revereto, have been captured.

The advance of the Italian First army in the Agrina Valley has precipitated a complete debacle of the Austrian army. Entire regiments are surrendering.

PUBLIC SCHOOL FUNDS

Apportionment From Ten Cent Tax Will Yield Schools Here $13,207.42.

The state superintendent of public instruction announces the apportionment of the fund for public schools from the return of the special ten cent tax on all properties for school purposes and as a result the public schools here will get $13,207.42 based on a school population of 4,333 and Alexandria county will obtain $14,505.91 based on a school population of 4,759.

The total amount from this tax collected by the state is $2,002,472.45. One half of this fund already has been paid out by the state auditor and the other half is payable February 1.

The amount received this year from this tax is about $100,000 in excess of that received last year. The schools will also receive about $600,000 from the special four cent tax provided by the last general assembly.

RICHMOND TONIGHT

Douglas Fairbanks' newest photoplay, "He Comes Up Smiling," one of the most delightful pictures in which he ever has appeared will be displayed at the Richmond tonight.

The thousands of admirers of Mr. Fairbanks will find this photoplay one of the best of the Fairbanks series. It is a novel theme handled with the greatest artistry, and splendidly directed. It is in every respect an extraordinary picture attraction.

Mr. Fairbanks portrays the role of a tramp in this photoplay and he does some unusual athletic stunts, all of which will be found to be thoroughly enjoyable. The story is one of exceptional interest.

A recuperative diet in influenza. Horlick's Malted Milk, very digestible.

Rep. Carlin Unopposed—Polls Will Open at Sunrise and Close at Sunset—All Voters Urged to Cast Their Ballot.

In the election tomorrow Representative Charles C. Carlin will be unopposed. Inasmuch as he is without opposition the election is without interest and the indications are that a very light vote will be polled.

Voters will cast their ballots at the usual voting places. The Democratic committee, however, is anxious that a good sized vote be polled and all voters are urged to cast their ballot tomorrow. The polls will open at sunrise and close at sunset.

The Republicans following the nomination of Representative Carlin from the Eighth District over E. B. White, of Loudoun, and H. Earlton Hanes, of Herndon, Fairfax county, decided it would be unwise to place a candidate in the field against Representative Carlin.

Representative Carlin in the primary of August 6 proved an easy winner. The vote for the Eighth district was as follows:

Representative Carlin, 6,998; White, 4,503 and Hanes, 205.

This will be Representative Carlin's sixth consecutive term in the House of Representatives from the Eighth district.

MRS. BURGESS DEAD

Woman in Werres Murder Acquitted Expires at Home of Parents.

Mrs. Catherine Burgess, companion of the two soldiers accused of killing John P. Warres, of Washington, about three months ago, one of whom is now awaiting execution on December 20, died yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downey, in Laurel, Md., following the birth of a child.

Following the trial of Earl F. Gamble, who was convicted of the murder, and sentenced to die on October 18, but later granted a reprieve until December 20, Mrs. Burgess was acquitted of having any direct share in the killing of Warres. She was the wife of an American soldier, now serving in France, and while in the machine with the two soldiers her first child, an infant, died of neglect, it is said.

The soldiers, accompanied by Mrs. Burgess, hired Warres to take them out in his machine, it being their intention to desert from the army, having changed their uniforms for civilian clothes they had purchased in Laurel. After being driven some miles into the country, Werres, according to the story told by the soldiers, refused to go any farther, and after a quarrel, was struck over the head with an empty bottle, the blow killing him. Werres, whose address was 2710 Bladensburg road, left a widow and children.

The trial of Robert Newman, the other soldier, will take place on December 9.

Forge Ahead Between Seven and Eight Miles on a Thirty-Mile Front—Americans Push Ten Miles—4,000 Huns Captured.

London, Nov. 4.—The American First and French Fourth armies advanced between seven and eight miles yesterday on a front of thirty miles, according to latest word from the front west of the Meuse.

Berlin, via London, Nov. 4.—A break-through by the Americans west of the Meuse was admitted by the German war office last night.

London, Nov. 4.—Capture by the Canadians Saturday of Valenciennes has forced a new German retreat. Field Marshal Hind announced last night that the enemy had withdrawn from the east and southeast of the big rail city. The British, following him, occupied Villers Pol, Jenlain, Curgies, Estreux and Onsaing. A number of prisoners were captured.

London, Nov. 4.—The Belgians last night were only four kilometers (two and a half miles) west of Ghent.

American troops fighting under King Albert of Belgium advanced nearly ten miles Friday and Saturday, Gen. Pershing reported in a communique received by the War Department late last night. They reached the western bank of the Scheldt and captured several hundred prisoners.

The number of prisoners has risen to more than 4,000 men and 192 officers, among whom are four battalion commanders with their staffs.

The enemy was forced to abandon large quantities of material of all kinds. An official count shows that sixty-three guns of medium and light caliber and hundreds of machine guns have been captured. A Bavarian battalion of artillery was taken with its personnel, horses and material complete.

In the course of the operations of the past two days south of the River Lys our troops, acting under the command of the King of the Belgians advanced nearly ten miles, reaching the western bank of the Scheldt and capturing several hundred prisoners.

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, Nov. 4.—American aviators late yesterday reported that the Germans to the east of the Meuse appeared to be in full retreat. The aviators' messages said that all roads running northward were packed with troops, artillery and trucks.

The American aviators went as far as Removille. They reported the roads southwest of Removille are choked with traffic.

TIME FOR CONVERTING BONDS EXPIRES NOVEMBER 9.

"Secretary McAdoo today made the following announcement:

The privilege of converting four per cent bonds of the First Liberty Loan Converted, and four per cent bonds of the Second Liberty Loan into four and a quarter per cent bonds expires on November 9 and cannot under existing law be extended. The Treasury has done all in its power to call the attention of the bond holders to the existence of this valuable privilege and the date of its expiration. It is safe to assume that upon the expiration of the conversion privilege the fact will reflect itself unfavorably in the market price of unconverted four per cent bonds which have heretofore been maintained substantially on a parity with the converted four and a quarter per cent bonds by the existence of the privilege of conversion.

Seven Great Agencies Monday Will Inaugurate Intensive Campaign—After Cessation of Hostilities Work to be Continued "Over There."

Next Monday the United War Work Campaign will begin and the local committee wants to emphasize the need for this city contributing its full quota. The terms of the armistice to be submitted to Germany will doubtless be accepted. Then will follow the real need for funds to carry on the work of the Young Men's Christian Association; Young Women's Christian Association; Jewish Welfare Board; National Catholic War Council (Knights of Columbus); American Library Association; Salvation Army; War Camp Community Service.

While an acceptance of the demands of the entente will bring about a cessation of hostilities, the men and women in the service will have to stay for a long time "Over There" and then is when these great organizations will be needed most. The soldiers of our allies are near their homes and kin. Our men and women are thousands of miles away and need every help in obtaining satisfactory conditions while in foreign countries. Will you give one day's pay to help the work that helps our soldiers.

The Seven Big War Work Activities deserve every dollar you can spare. Remember that after the battles are won the recreational center will be continued and that the little hints will be havens of peace and rest after having served their purposes on the Battle Line as Little Heavens in the Pit of Hell. You can help to keep the Home Fires burning "Over There" while peace is being established for you.

Governor Westmoreland, Davis Honorary State Chairman of the United War Work Campaign, has called a meeting of the representatives of the District Campaign Organizations to be held in Richmond on Thursday of this week, at the Jefferson Hotel. The Governor says:

"I am sure you appreciate the great importance of this work which means so much for the welfare, comfort and morale of our men and women in the service.

"Should the war have an early end, the demobilization of the army which would require a long time would more than ever emphasize the necessity of these organizations in affording comfort and protection for our men and women."

GRAND THEATER

When a light-weight preacher falls in love with a gambler's sweetheart and the gambler happens to be the most feared man in a rough frontier settlement, the resulting complications are bound to make a story of extraordinary interest.

The atmosphere of the west breathes action, swift, conclusive, sometimes fatal to those unfortunates who get in the path of stray bullets. Sometimes the western concept of love is so big that a man will sacrifice even his life for the sake of another's happiness. This is what happens in "The Devil Dogger," the new Triangle drama in which Roy Stewart, will be seen tomorrow at the Grand. As usual on Tuesday there will be a thrilling William S. Hart film. No increase in the price of admission.

IN MEMORIAM

Robert S. Barrett Sends $300 to Mayor Fisher to be Divided Among Various Alexandria Organizations Engaged in War Work.

Robert S. Barrett, commercial attaché, with headquarters at the embassy of the United States, Buenos Aires, Argentina, has forwarded to Mayor Thomas A. Fisher a New York draft for $300 to be used for the relief of needy families of men who have been called to the front.

The mayor today distributed the money in the amounts suggested by Mr. Barrett to the organizations named in his letter.

The letter of Mr. Barrett follows:

September 10th, 1918.

Honorable Thomas A. Fisher, Mayor of Alexandria, Virginia.

My dear Mr. Mayor:

While I am satisfied that the United States Government has made ample provisions for the dependents of our soldiers and sailors I think it would be an excellent idea for the executives of our cities to have a fund at their disposal which they can use for emergency cases of relief needed by the families of men who have been called to the front. I am therefore enclosing herewith a New York draft for $300.00 to be used by you as a nucleus for such a fund and administered under such rules and regulations as you may decide.

I am sure that the time is not opportune in Alexandria for the raising of such a fund or that there is no real necessity for taking any action at the present time I would be very glad if you would divide the proceeds of the enclosed draft among the following organizations:

Alexandria Chapter of the Red Cross, $100.

Alexandria fund for the War Work of the Young Men's Christian Association, $50.

Alexandria fund for the War work of the Knights of Columbus, $50.

Alexandria fund for the War work of the B. P. O. Elks, $50.

Alexandria fund for the War work of the Salvation Army, $25.

Alexandria fund for the War work of the Virginia Florence Crittenton League, $25.

With expressions of my very high regard, I am, as ever,

Sincerely your friend,

Robert S. Barrett.

The Mayor's reply follows:

November 4, 1918.

Honorable Robert S. Barrett, Embassy of the United States of America, Office of the Commercial Attaché, Buenos Aires, Argentina.

My Dear Friend:

I beg to acknowledge, with thanks, of the 10th, September, 1918, your New York draft for three hundred dollars ($300) with the request that it be used for emergency relief of the families of those at the front and have and are still doing battle and in reply will say inasmuch as the organization you mention have, and are still doing a noble work in the line suggested I deem it advisable to distribute the amount as suggested in your letter, and I herewith enclose receipts showing its acceptance by the organizations named.

This is most certainly a very liberal donation on your part and I take this opportunity to thank you for the spirit in which it has been sent.

With expressions of my very high regard, I am as ever

Sincerely your friend,

Thomas A. Fisher, Mayor.

TOMORROW'S ELECTION

The action of the Republican party leaders in appealing for the election of a Republican Congress in order that President Wilson's leadership may be overthrown and that his war program and his peace and readjustment program may be cast aside leaves only one course open to those who are satisfied with the President's leadership and who approve of his war and peace programs.

It is incumbent upon all voters who believe that President Wilson's leadership should be maintained unimpaired, to vote for the Democratic Congressional candidates in every state in the union tomorrow. That is the only way in which they can give the President the vote of confidence which he asks.

Each of the candidates in Virginia are supporters of the President.

The Republicans have a 50-50 chance to assume control of the next House of Representatives, but nothing short of a landslide of the old-fashioned sort will deliver the Senate into their hands, and not even the hungriest or the greediest of Republican partisans can point to anything in this campaign that looks like a landslide in either direction.

On the contrary, leaders in both camps foresee a tight situation. They expect that party lines will be pretty closely drawn where there are straight out party contests, but with the strategic advantages largely on the side of the party in power. Every Democratic candidate, for example, has an asset in the President himself, and has in that official an advocate with a guaranteed hearing. Every Democratic candidate has a measure of prestige as the representative of an administration that has fought a successful war, and every such candidate has, moreover, that purely sentimental support which will come from the mothers and fathers of the men in uniform—mothers and fathers who will consent to no hamstringing of their boys' commander-in-chief.

But this may not save the House to the Democrats. In that House they have burdens to carry as well as advantages to exploit. The party has its liabilities as well as its assets. Has its Kitchins and its Dents to apologize for, as well as its war record to capitalize. There is no margin of safety in the House, as in the Senate, to fall back upon. The Democrats must hold all they have and make some gains if they are to maintain control of the House organization.

There is at this time a Democratic majority of one in the lower body, but that majority is due to the fact that there are six vacancies, at least four of which are in Republican districts.

Homer S. Cummings acting chairman of the Democratic national committee has issued a statement in which he says:

"There is only one issue. Shall we help or hinder the President. He has asked for a vote of confidence. Shall we give it to him? There is not one of the allied countries—England, France, Italy or Belgium—that would not give Woodrow Wilson a vote of confidence at this crisis. Are we of the United States less grateful or appreciative? Under his leadership the world is coming to democracy by vast leaps. Thrones are tumbling. Dynasties are crumbling to dust. Tomorrow will give a word of cheer to the President."

REDEMPTION OF PALESTINE

The Turk is gone from the holy places says the New Republic. Step by step the British advanced out of Egypt through the land of Edom and the Philistine littoral, pressing the Turk northward until the whole tangled highland of Judea and the Plain of Sharon were cleared of the defilement of his presence. And now all Samaria and the Plain of Esdraelon have been liberated by the last great victory of General Allenby.

There remain doubtless demoralized bands of Turks in the hills of Galilee, but they will soon have been hunted down. All the lands on this side of Jordan up to the boundaries of the Lebanon, where for two generations Turkey has held only nominal sway, will have been redeemed. And beyond the Jordan the remnants of the Turkish force are darting wildly about in Gilead and Ammon, seeking desperately an escape from between the British in the Hauran, and their Arabic allies moving north through Moab.

There is no way out for the Turks except over the deadly Arabian desert to the east. Whether they go out into the desert or remain to be made prisoners is all one to the world. They are thrust out of Palestine, and that stricken land will know their misrule and greed and cruelty no more.

INCIDENTS OF THE SCOURGE

Alexandria, with other nearby places, is passing out of the sable cloud which has hung over our community during the past two months. Many of our people, mostly young, have been called from mundane scenes during this period, and numbers are still ill, but in the majority of cases convalescence is in evidence.

In some cases death has taken two from families. Funerals have been hurried, difficulty has been experienced in securing the services of grave-diggers and ministers have passed from one house to another while officiating at funerals. In a number of cases all members of households have been prostrated, no one being able to minister to others, while the work of securing help has been futile.

Our people have been called upon to pass through trying scenes, but we read of conditions in other places where they have been far more serious.

Leaving his three small children crying for their mother, who died Thursday, Julius Frey, a musician, of Pittsburgh, Pa., went to Calvary Cemetery and dug her grave Saturday. While at work he saw a man digging another grave.

"I am digging this for my little daughter," he told Frey, and, pointing to another grave, the man said that he had prepared it for his wife, the two having died Saturday. "On my way to this part of the cemetery I saw a man digging a grave for his two children," the man told Frey.

Not only was Frey obliged to dig the grave for his wife, but, assisted by relatives, filled the grave after the interment yesterday.

KAISER READS THE BIBLE

A German officer who was recently captured on the west front still has hopes for Prussian militarism. He makes excuses for the Hohenzollerns, and entertains hopes that the Huns will secure a favorable peace. Among other things he says:

"There are days when no officer of the German General Staff can give access to the Emperor. These are days passed by the monarch almost entirely in prayer and Bible reading."

We would suggest that William II read of Nebuchadnezzar, who desired to be the autocrat of all things here below. After the prophet Daniel showed the king that his reign was limited and other monarchs were to follow him, he went out and exclaimed, "Is not this great Babylon that I have builded?" The King was bereft of his reason, moved on all four and ate grass like the oxen.

The German would be autocrat could also peruse the New Testament which contains the following: "From whence cometh wars and fighting among you? Come they not hence even of your lusts that war in obtain; ye fight and war, yet ye have not."

CURB ON LANDLORDS

During the recent influx into Alexandria and the demand for houses rents have, in many cases, been advanced. While this course may not always be justified, in many cases, the advances seem to have been just, and this for many reasons. But some tenants who have been paying rents which have remained unchanged for years have protested when notified that they would be expected to pay certain increases in the future.

The renters have laid the matter before the U. S. Shipping Board, alleging that they are engaged in war work and that no advances should be made, although they are receiving double as much as they did a few years ago.

Certain householders in the southeastern section of the city have been notified that rents must not be advanced, and should landlords persist in their demands the property will be commandeered by the government.

The owners called attention to the fact that property must be kept up, as repairs are always being invited, that they are compelled to pay workmen advanced wages, and in many cases sewers have been tapped which take big slices from rents.

GERMANY'S TERMS TO FRANCE.

Attention is called to the fact that when Germany conquered France in 1870, she would not even grant France an armistice until she surrendered the 25 forts surrounding Paris. Germany's peace terms were the relinquishment of Alsace-Lorraine and the payment of a billion dollars, a huge sum at that time. And the German troops remained in France, too, let it be remembered, until the last cent of the money was paid. Has Germany any reason to expect any easier terms now than she granted them when the victor?

PEACE OFFER FROM BURGLAR.

To the Police Department:

I am occupying a house that does not belong to me and I have stolen and removed everything of value. I have murdered most of the people in it and have tortured some of them. I have despoiled the place beyond all repair. Now I desire an armistice so as to withdraw to a safe place and am willing to enter into peace negotiations with you in a manner which shall not affect my liberty or my honor. Now that you have the place surrounded I will make certain concessions if you will do the same, allowing me safety and permitting me to keep what I have stolen. I also demand that I shall not be magged for the Rogues' Gallery.

P. H. the Blood.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

DUPES OF MILITARISM

The German people are not the only dupes of militarism. The swagger of German officers deceived a good many other ignoramuses who now realize that they have lost everything by listening to the gasconade of William Hohenzollern and his satellites.

First in order of time was Constantine of Greece. He was not on any too good terms with his German wife; he was not German bred; he knew that Venizelos was correct in saying that the interests as well as the sympathies of the Greeks were with the Allies. But he thought the German army could beat anything. He has been living in retirement in Switzerland for a year and a half.

Ferdinand of Bulgaria is a German, but he is also the grandson of a French king, and he is not embarrassed by scruples or sentiments of any sort. He was openly offering himself to the highest bidder, and he accepted the German bid, not because it was the highest, but because he supposed Germany was certain to conquer, and then its promises would be redeemed. He is also in retirement in Switzerland, or possibly in Austria.

Austria itself had some interests in the Balkans, but none at all in Pan-Germanism. Eighty per cent. of the subjects of Austria were either indifferent or profoundly opposed to Pan-Germanism. But the Austrian Government believed that the German Army was invincible. We should like to have a film picture of what is going on in the mind of Count Berchtold.

Enver Pasha had lived in Berlin, and the swagger of German militarism had impressed him profoundly. He was confident that Germany could conquer decadent France and commercialized England, and Germany would allow the Young Turks to assassinate the Armenian nation, which England and France would prevent if they could. So Enver and his accomplices betrayed their country into the hands of Germany by a trick; and now where is Enver, and where is his country, and what is going to become of it? He will probably grace a gallows.

Trotsky and Lenin knew that Kaiserism was as absolute a block to popular government or proletarian government as Czarism was. But they liked German money, and had no doubt that the German army could beat anything, and so they sold their country and the lives of thousands of its most useful people to Germany. Now now Germany is on the point of accepting any terms the Allies may impose upon it, and the result is that the Allies will enter Russia, hang a few hundred Bolsheviks for their horrible feast of blood, and deliver the country from them.

On the whole, there must seem, even to the atheist, that there is some moral government of the universe; enough, at least, to justify the generalization that the way of the transgressor is hard.—Philadelphia Record.

FORMER RESIDENT RECEIVES WOUND.

William F. Ale, a former resident of Alexandria, who is now a member of a Pennsylvania regiment in France, writes as follows to his parents:

October 6, 1918

Dear Father and Mother:—

Writing to you to let you know I am well and in good health. I received 26 letters yesterday mail from both of you, Aunt Minnie, Uncle Ike, and the Church League and Clarence and Alice and Mac.

I am very proud to say I have been over the top, as they call it, and every one of us boys did our bit. We were ready for the Hun and had them on the run for 5 days and 6 nights, but I will never forget the sights and the thoughts that passed over me during those days and nights we were in action. I only hope I am carried safely through all that is yet before me, for I can now tell them all I have done my bit, while the people at home are doing theirs.

Don't worry if you do not hear from me very often for I will write as often as I can, and do not think I am neglecting writing for home was never so dear to me as at the present time, and words cannot explain how I am longing to be back there once again.

When you once go over the top, it puts an age on you, and it is certainly hard on your nerves. You don't realize the danger until you are safely out of the conflict and you then go all to pieces for a time. I had a slight machine gun wound. I should not mention it to you, but I consider myself so lucky it gives me joy to think of it. It just seemed as though if I went through all of my clothes and I guess the Lord must have stopped it. It stumped me for a minute and caused me to lose my rifle, but believe me, I soon had another one and was on my way.

I hope this letter finds all well. Am doing my best to see you all once again. I received the money and it came in good, but don't send any more. All I want is to get back safely and you can buy me a new suit when that time comes, for I will be anxious to get out of this suit of khaki as soon as this war ends. Give my regards to all and I assure you I will come home with the boys some day called tomorrow.

Bidding all good-bye.

William F. Ale.

"FLU" CATECHISM FOR PUPILS

State Board of Health Prepares Attractive Bulletin for the School Children of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 4.—The State Board of Health now has in press an "Influenza Catechism" which will be widely distributed among the school children of Virginia in the hope that youngsters in all parts of the Commonwealth will study the attractive publication and follow the simple precautions it offers in connection with the prevention of "flu" and other spray-borne diseases.

All of the information embodied in the bulletin is set forth through the medium of questions and answers, which are couched in language so simple that even third and fourth grade pupils may readily understand.

School superintendents in all the counties and cities of the State will be supplied liberally with the "Catechisms," and Dr. R. W. Garnett, the acting commissioner of the State Board, on October 30th addressed them the following letter in regard to the use of this publication which he has prepared.

"With the influenza now rapidly subsiding in most sections of the State, the question of when to open the schools is doubtless becoming for you, as well as for us, a very pertinent one.

The executive committee of the State Board of Health has today passed a resolution covering the needs of the situation as well as it can be done in a general statement. A copy of this resolution is herewith enclosed, although you will have probably already seen it in the papers. As you will observe, the responsibility for fixing the date of opening of the schools is placed upon the local health authorities. Conditions vary so widely in different portions of the State that the only fair way to deal with these problems is by letting the ultimate decision rest with local authorities.

We should not fail to take advantage for educational purposes, of the favorable psychological atmosphere created by the epidemic of influenza. Now is the time of all others when we may succeed in effectually presenting certain most important health truths. A special health bulletin, therefore, under the name of the "Influenza Catechism" is being issued, and we would like very much to have this made a part of the regular teaching in all schools of the State. One copy of this bulletin will be sent to you as soon as they come from the press.

Since it is important that this material be gotten into the hands of all the teachers, we will appreciate very much your letting us have at once a list of your teachers with their addresses. If you have not already done so, in order that we may be able to mail them direct a supply. Should you prefer to distribute this material personally, we will be very glad to send you a sufficient supply."

UNFORBIDDEN SWEETS

Sugar still continues to be one of the things we must save. The two pounds a month per person allowance gives all one needs for ordinary purposes but precludes the use of sugar for cakes, desserts, sauces, etc. Many housewives do not understand how to use the unfamiliar sweetenings to advantage. Molasses or syrup cannot be used in metal utensils without acquiring the "tinny" taste objected to by cooks. Therefore cook the apple sauce in an enameled ware saucepan, which is impervious to the action of the acid of the fruit until almost done. Then add the molasses or syrup and stir briskly until removed from the fire. Treated in this way, adding always at the last of the cooking, these sugar substitutes will be found much better than they are sometimes given the credit for being.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Judge Joseph B. Prince, one of the most prominent members of the Petersburg bar, accidentally shot and killed himself Saturday morning at his home near Petersburg, while preparing to go out hunting with P. H. Booth, his brother-in-law.

Capt. Robert Young Conrad, Company 1, 116th infantry, was killed while leading his men in a charge along the Meuse River, in France, on October 12, according to an official message received by relatives. He was a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and practiced law in Winchester with his father, the late Major Holmes Conrad, solicitor general under Cleveland.

The last night was again in darkness, with all trolley service suspended, after an afternoon in which partial service was rendered to the public. This time the interruption was due directly to a government demand on the local traction company for all available current. The scant output of power was commandeered by army officials for wire circuits supplying Lambert's and Sewell's Point piers and houses, where a number of ships, under rush orders, are being loaded. Hotels, office buildings, restaurants and residences have returned to the primitive lighting method, tallow and wax candles.

Robert McLain O'Farrell, son of the late former Governor Charles T. O'Farrell, met death suddenly Saturday morning in the Du Pont plant at Hopewell. Details are not known.

Federal and police officers in Richmond made extraordinarily heavy hauls of liquor Saturday, deputies from the United States marshal's office confiscating 132 quarts of whisky and four bottles of beer and officers from the First District Station securing eighty six quarts from a Pullman car at the Main Street Station.

HIGHWAYMEN KILL IN DUEL

Restaurant Keeper Slain and a Companion Badly Wounded

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4.—Frank Luke, proprietor of a Braddock restaurant, was killed and his companion, Matthew Rogan, of East Pittsburgh, was probably fatally wounded as a result of a revolver battle with three masked highwaymen in Braddock avenue early yesterday.

The three highwaymen, each armed with a revolver, approached Luke and Rogan and demanded their money. Drawing their revolvers, Luke and his companion opened fire and the highwaymen returned it, more than 20 shots being exchanged. Luke was the first to fall, receiving a bullet in the abdomen. A few minutes later one of the highwaymen and Rogan fell wounded. The two other footpads assisted their wounded comrade and escaped.

LINER ALL AGLOW

French Steamer's Captain Ordered all Lights On

An Atlantic Port, Nov. 4.—A large French liner arrived here during the night with all her lights ablaze. This unusual procedure in war time was due, according to passengers, to a wireless message picked up at sea, which caused the captain to order paint scraped from the vessel's port-holes to permit illumination of the decks.

While the contents of the wireless message were not made known to the passengers, many of them landed today with the impression that peace had been concluded with Germany and that "Freedom of the Seas" had been restored.

THE LATE J. A. HENDERSON

The Bethlehem, Pa., Globe prints the following account of the death of John Albert Henderson, formerly of this city.

The local office of the National War Labor Board in the Bethlehem Trust Company building was cast into deep gloom shortly after ten o'clock this morning by the sudden death from heart failure, of John A. Henderson, the examiner in charge. Mr. Henderson had been suffering from a heavy cold during the past few days but had stated this morning to friends at the Eagle Hotel, where he was making his home while in Bethlehem, that he was feeling fine and had enjoyed a good night's rest.

He commenced his day's work this morning as usual and the end came suddenly as he was passing from one room of the suite of offices into another. Drs. A. D. Heller and C. A. S. Kemper were hastily summoned but he was beyond all human aid, death having been instantaneous. He was a hard worker and it is believed that the strain of the important work the Board is carrying out at the plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company overtaxed his energies resulting in heart failure.

Mr. Henderson, with the other examiners here, arrived in Bethlehem about six weeks ago, taking up his residence at the Eagle Hotel which place was used as headquarters of the Board until the offices in the Bethlehem Trust Company Building were opened four weeks ago. He was greatly engrossed in the work to which the local office had been assigned, that of placing in effect the recent award of the National War Labor Board at Washington, against the Bethlehem Steel Company.

Since coming here and starting the work of holding elections among the shops at the plant he made many friends by his clear and impartial manner and his loss will be keenly felt by all with whom he had been accustomed to associate. He was at all times eager to become personally acquainted with the men of the various shops and held a number of conferences with their representatives and delegates. As this is the first award of its kind issued by the National War Labor Board it was necessary to create rather than follow precedent and this was done with a spirit of strict justice and impartiality to all. He had been planning to go to Washington this afternoon on business for the Board in connection with this work.

Mr. Henderson was a noted authority on traffic matters and filled an important position as traffic expert in Washington before assuming his work with the National War Labor Board. He was 48 years old and is survived by his wife. His home is in Washington, D. C. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker A. C. Betge, and removed to his establishment where he will be prepared for burial. The funeral arrangements will be completed as soon as his relatives can be communicated with.

DOUBT DISAPPEARS

No One in Alexandria Who Has a Bad Back Should Ignore This Double Proof.

Does your back ever ache? Have you suspected your kidneys? Backache is sometimes kidney ache. With it may come dizzy spells. Sleepless nights, tired, dull days. Distressing urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills have been endorsed by thousands. Are recommended here at home. You have read Alexandria proof. Read now the Alexandria sequel. Renewed testimony; tested by time. H. C. Smith, tailor, 919-1-2 King street, says: "I can't begin to describe the agony I suffered with my back. I tried other medicines, but nothing helped me until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me in less than a month and today I am as free from backache as if I never had it."

Over four years later Mr. Smith said: "I still consider Doan's Kidney Pills fine for kidney trouble. I never hesitate to recommend them." Price 60c, at all dealers. CASE OF THE KAISER

Report Circulated in Europe That He Has Abdicated—Reichstag Parties Protest to Retain Unity of Empire.

London, Nov. 4.—Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated last Wednesday, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris, received here today.

Copenhagen, Nov. 4.—Emperor Karl has informed the members of his cabinet and party leaders that he intends to abdicate and reside in Switzerland, says a Vienna dispatch.

Zurich, Nov. 4.—The five children of Emperor Charles left the Godollo palace, near Budapest, on Thursday in two automobiles and have not been heard from since, it was reported by the Frankfurter Gazette today.

London, Nov. 4.—A strong report is making the rounds here, emanating from military and diplomatic sources, that the Kaiser, at an assembly of all the German princes Wednesday, signed his abdication.

Paris, Nov. 4.—The "news" that the Kaiser has abdicated was circulated verbally around Paris yesterday afternoon. The newspapers contained only rumors.

Copenhagen, Nov. 4.—Reichstag parties, according to word from Berlin late yesterday, have adopted a resolution against the abdication of the Kaiser, "desiring to retain the unity of the empire."

The Kaiser is expected to announce his attitude upon his return from the front.

Amsterdam, Nov. 4.—On the occasion of the constitutional amendment coming into force, says an official telegram from Berlin, Emperor William addressed to Prince Maximilian of Baden, the German Imperial Chancellor, a decree endorsing the decisions of the Reichstag and avowing his firm determination to co-operate in their full development. The Emperor's decree reads:

"Your Grand Ducal Highness: 'I return herewith for immediate publication the bill to amend the Imperial Constitution and the law of March 17, 1879, relative to the representation of the Imperial Chancellor, which has been laid before me for signature.

"On the occasion of this step, which is so momentous for the future history of the German people, I have a desire to give expression to my feelings. Prepared for by a series of Government acts, a new order comes into force which transfers the fundamental rights of the Kaiser's person to the people.

"Thus comes to a close a period which will stand in honor before the eyes of future generations. Despite all struggles between invested authority and aspiring forces, it has rendered possible to our people that tremendous development which imperishably revealed itself in the wonderful achievements of this war.

"In the terrible storms of the four years of war, however, old forms have been broken up, not to leave their ruins behind, but to make a place for a new vital form.

"After the achievements of these times the German people can claim that no right which may guarantee a free and happy future shall be withheld from them.

"The proposals of the Allied Governments which are now adopted and extended owe their origin to this conviction. I, however, with my exalted allies, endorse these decisions of Parliament in firm determination, so far as I am concerned, to co-operate in their full development, convinced that I am thereby promoting the weal of the German people.

"The Kaiser's office is one of service to the people. May, then, the new order release all the good powers which our people need in order to support the trials which are hanging over the empire and with a firm step win a bright future from the gloom of the present.

"Berlin, October 28, 1918.
(Signed)

"William, I. R.
(Countersigned).
"Max,
"Prince of Baden."

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Serbian army has reoccupied Belgrade, the Serbian capital, the French war office announces.

A Keiff dispatch received in Copenhagen by Berlin says 20,000 Russian marines have revolted against the Bolshevik rule at Petrograd.

Since the great offensive began on the western front on July 15 last, the allied armies have captured 362,355 prisoners, as well as 6,217 cannon, 38,622 machine guns and 3,907 mine throwers.

Ebbing of the influenza epidemic in Washington is seen in the lessened number of deaths reported yesterday in the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock last night. Only eight deaths were reported as opposed to 13 the day before. There have been 1,500 deaths.

The Hungarian National Council, headed by Count Karolyi, has ordered a popular vote to determine the form of Government under which the Hungarian people desire to live, according to dispatches from Budapest. The creation of a Hungarian republic is anticipated. All Hungarian traffic toward Germany has been stopped. This means that 50,000 cars loaded with food will not be allowed to reach Germany. Two German divisions are reported proceeding from Rumania to Hungary.

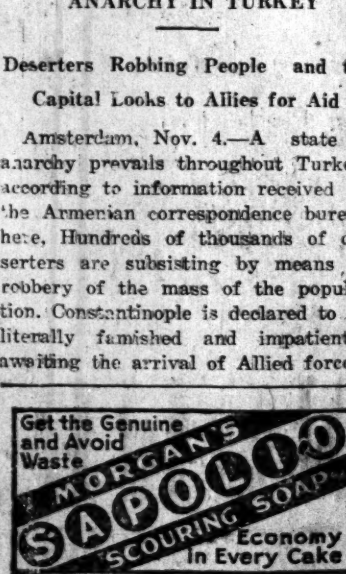

The war industries board has listed seventeen types of nonwar construction which it holds can best be postponed until peace. They are churches, schools, hotels, office buildings, bank buildings, public buildings, moving picture houses, theaters and other amusement places, apartment buildings, nonwar factories, mills, etc.; commercial enterprises and store buildings, gas and electric light plants, grain elevators, waterworks, improvements, sewerage systems, garages and gasoline stations, sidewalks and park improvements.

It is stated authoritatively in Paris that Austria did not abandon her fleet to the Jugo-Slavs, but that the latter in their revolt took possession of the Austro-Hungarian vessels. As soon as this was done they sent President Wilson the following wireless telegram: "We have seized the whole Austro-Hungarian fleet, except the Viribus Unitis, recently sunk by the Italians, and we are ready to hand over these vessels to the United States government or representatives of the allied navies. The Viribus Unitis was torpedoed while it still flew the Austrian flag."

ANARCHY IN TURKEY

Deserters Robbing People and the Capital Looks to Allies for Aid
Amsterdam, Nov. 4.—A state of anarchy prevails throughout Turkey, according to information received by the Armenian correspondence bureau here. Hundreds of thousands of deserters are subsisting by means of robbery of the mass of the population. Constantinople is declared to be literally famished and impatiently awaiting the arrival of Allied forces.
